Mr. Norris said he had no fear for the loyalty of the Canadian people under rectitude. Those people who were most loyal were the ones at present, happy and contented. There was no sentiment in him in favor of annexation. He said he would not be deceived by the talk with all claims. In his wanderings he had come across three men who were in favor of annexation and those three men had been the only "ranked" Conservatives in the province.

To Oppose R. A. Lake in Qr Appelle.
A meeting of the Liberal association was held Saturday for the purpose of appointing delegates to attend a meeting of the Central association at Brandon, on Aug. 10, for the purpose of opposing a candidate to oppose R. A. Lake in the constituency of Qr Appelle. In the coming Dominion election. The following were appointed from Edmonton (town and district): A. S. Smith, M. P.; Andrew White, M. P.; R. A. Frith, R. J. Phil, John Eason, Wm. Fyke, R. S. Lake, M. P. When his campaign here tonight, holding meetings as far as Spring Creek on the south and Littlefield on the north.

Saskatoon, Aug. 7.—The political campaign is beginning to live up, and within the next few days both parties will be in shape for the race, which promises to be one of the keenest political battles in the history of the riding. It looks as if the name of Geo. E. McCraney would be the only one to go before the Liberal convention. The choice of the Conservatives has been taken by Mr. E. Munroe and G. M. Thompson, editor of the Capital. The riding has a large foreign vote, which in the past has gone Liberal, though Saskatoon is pretty evenly divided.

Assemble May be Candidate in Winnipeg.
Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Legislation in Winnipeg and Brandon for the Dominion voters' lists, take place Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week, three days before the provincial registration, double date. The annual meeting came from Ottawa today. Old Fowler and J. H. Ashdown are the names before the Liberal convention.

ONWAY.

Bulletin News Service.
A meeting of the farmers of Onway, under the auspices of the local branch of the U.F.A., took place in the school house on July 22nd. Business was opened by Secretary-Treasurer A. A. Brown, who read a rough outline of the program of the coming year and then, with a plan on September 17th, several sub-committees were formed. The meeting was well attended. The fair will be held at Onway, on the 22nd, was a great success. In spite of the heavy rain of the day before, which has been working on the "the date." The attendance was about one hundred. All enjoyed themselves with baseball and other games.

The black spots on the prairie occasioned by settlers doing their breaking duties are becoming very numerous. We hope next year to see much less of them. Mr. C. Yikhardt has come to the city to relieve his uncle, Mr. Cassie, in the coffee house. Mr. Cassie is expected to spend a few days in the city, before leaving for his home in the west.

ROOSEVELT TELLS OF STEEL TRUST'S DOINGS

Former President set all President at Naught by Giving Evidence Before Congressional Committee—More Necessary, He Declared.

New York, Aug. 7.—Accepting full responsibility for the approval of the steel trust, President Roosevelt today told the House of Representatives that the steel trust was necessary to save the country from financial calamity. The former President asserted that S. H. Gary and Henry C. Frick, who visited the White House, secured permission to absorb the Tennessee corporation, told him that it was the only way to stop the panic. With old time vigor and ardor, with only a gasp and a gasp, Roosevelt reviewed the panic. He declared his one object was to prevent disaster.

For two hours the members of the committee listened to the testimony. In summarizing the testimony at the close of the investigation, Roosevelt declared: "All of the information I had at that time would all the information I have received since leads me to believe that the steel trust was necessary to save the country from financial calamity. The former President asserted that S. H. Gary and Henry C. Frick, who visited the White House, secured permission to absorb the Tennessee corporation, told him that it was the only way to stop the panic. With old time vigor and ardor, with only a gasp and a gasp, Roosevelt reviewed the panic. He declared his one object was to prevent disaster.

"I agree with your general purpose of the steel trust, but I do not agree with the steel trust. I would go even further. I favor the government exercising direct control over these big business corporations."

Concluding his testimony, Roosevelt declared he believed the information given him by Frick and Gary was essentially accurate. "It was unnecessary for me to form an opinion as to whether the corporation was anxious to set the Tennessee corporation back, but I believe that the steel trust was necessary to save the country from financial calamity. The former President asserted that S. H. Gary and Henry C. Frick, who visited the White House, secured permission to absorb the Tennessee corporation, told him that it was the only way to stop the panic. With old time vigor and ardor, with only a gasp and a gasp, Roosevelt reviewed the panic. He declared his one object was to prevent disaster.

"In all essential details I believe that the steel trust was necessary to save the country from financial calamity. The former President asserted that S. H. Gary and Henry C. Frick, who visited the White House, secured permission to absorb the Tennessee corporation, told him that it was the only way to stop the panic. With old time vigor and ardor, with only a gasp and a gasp, Roosevelt reviewed the panic. He declared his one object was to prevent disaster.

After Colonel Roosevelt was excused, Charles M. Schwab, who was today asserted, on the floor of the House, was the originator of the plan to form the United States Steel Corporation, resumed the floor. In reply to the fact that Roosevelt declared he believed his action was necessary, the committee presided by many witnesses that the Tennessee corporation was one of the best steel corporations in the world. It could produce steel more cheaply than the trust, and that its acquisition by the United States Steel Corporation, would be one of its most powerful competitors.

The colonel admitted, however, that he was of the opinion that he had no information as to the immense cost of iron holdings of the Tennessee corporation which were turned over to the steel trust, according to evidence now before the committee. He resumed his practical monopoly of the iron and steel business.

"If you had known of these holdings, would you have permitted the Tennessee corporation to acquire the steel trust? Chairman Stanley demanded. The colonel replied that he did not know.

Colonel Roosevelt was drawn into the details of the trust. He declared the abstract and agreed with Stanley in the anti-trust attitude. He declared the colonel's opinion of trust-busting.

RECIPROCITY OR RESTRICTION?

Reciprocity will stimulate the movement of farmers from the central and western States to the Canadian prairies. Their holdings in the border States are now very valuable, owing to the market they have for the products of them. When the advantages of the same market are thrown open to the products of the cheaper land this side of the border, it is not difficult to guess what shrewd farmers in those States will do. Thousands of them will sell out their high-priced land south of the border, and put the money into cheaper land this side; thus trading a small farm for a larger one of equal fertility and enjoying the privilege of the same market.

WITHOUT FAITH IN THEMSELVES.

From his place in Parliament the Minister of Finance challenged the Opponents of trade expansion to put their opinions to the test of experience. Mr. Fielding said:

"Let us put the good faith of my hon. friends opposite to the test. I challenge them to pass it (the reciprocity measure) now, give the people its benefit this year, proceed with redistribution, and follow with the elections. Then a year or less hence, when the people have tried it out, meet them for their verdict. Then, if my hon. friends are sincere, if their position has been warranted in any way, they will have the opportunity of wiping this government out, of repealing the measure, and putting back the taxes which we hope to take off."

Why was not this challenge accepted? For months the opponents of the measure had been declaring that it would work out to the injury rather than to the benefit of the country. If they thought their prophecy was correct, here surely was their chance to let the Government destroy themselves. If the arrangements worked out badly the Government would be answerable, and would have to pay the penalty for their mistake when the elections came around a year hence. The opponents of the measure, if they thought their opinion was sound, had nothing to do but sit tight and let the Government hang themselves. Mr. Fielding challenged them to sit tight and see whether their opinion was sound or not. They declined. Yet they ask the electors to believe their opinion correct and on the strength of that belief to reject the agreement. They expect the public to have more faith in the correctness of their judgment than they have themselves.

PENALIZED FOR OUR OPINIONS.

The explanation of the Ottawa Journal removes any doubt as to why the western people are robbed of the thirty additional members to which they are entitled until the reciprocity question has been settled. The Ottawa Journal, it must be borne in mind, is the one newspaper published at the Capital which has been supporting Mr. Borden and his followers in the fight against reciprocity, and must therefore be taken as being in his confidence, if any paper is. As it sets forth, there were two courses before the Opposition. They foresaw that an election must be fought on the reciprocity issue; either before redistribution or after. In the normal course of things there would be both a redistribution measure and a general election due next year. The question was whether they should allow the measure to pass and make it their fighting ground, or one point of conflict, next year; or whether they should force the fighting now and bring on an election before there could be a redistribution. They chose the latter course. The Journal puts it thus:

To force a general election now meant to force a fight upon chiefly the reciprocity issue, with the possibility that the party may suffer in some of the rural constituencies, where the farmers may think that reciprocity, whether it means much in itself or not, is an entering wedge for general tariff reduction. On the other hand, not to force a general election now—to allow adoption of reciprocity, another session of parliament, and a redistribution bill, meant that thirty new seats in parliament would be allotted to the West of Canada, where the government influence is overwhelming and unscrupulous, and that a general election would take place with a tolerable certainty of a large majority of these new seats being captured by the government.

This is the official "inside" explanation of the reasons for forcing the election now; issued to the eastern opponents of the measure in the hope of convincing them that now was their chance to defeat the agreement while the part of the country where it was most popular had been prevented electing its full share of members to Parliament. The Opposition had done its part in forcing the fight while the West was under-represented, and while the East, where sentiment is less unanimously favorable to the agreement, had an improperly large proportion of the members; it remained for those who wanted the agreement defeated to throw themselves into the conflict thus brought on. The bringing on of the election at this time gave them an advantage, the Journal was careful to point out,—with the approval of Mr. Borden and his advisors no doubt,—and this advantage it behooved them to make full use of. If they could not defeat the agreement in the country now, they certainly could not have done it next year when the West would have its full quota of members. They should be grateful to the Opposition for bringing on the contest under circumstances which gave them an advantage and should show their gratitude in the fitting and highly desirable manner of getting into the fight promptly and vigorously.

The western people will understand therefore, why they are denied the representation they are entitled to before their judgment is asked upon this agreement: It is because they are known to hold views at variance with those of the opponents of the agreement. They favor the agreement; if given more members would elect more supporters of it; wherefore they are forced to vote on the agreement before they are given more members. They are penalized for their opinions. They have dared to differ in a matter of vital consequence to them with His Majesty's Opposition, therefore they are not to be allowed to adequately express their opinions at the polls. A stiff-necked and perverse generation, they refused to be converted by Mr. Borden; therefore they are disfranchised by him. As they will not vote against reciprocity their votes are to be discounted. They now send 34 members to Parliament; after redistribution they will send 30 more members; but these 30 would be mostly supporters of reciprocity; therefore they will not be allowed to elect them until the reciprocity question has been settled. In deciding the fate of reciprocity the vote of each western man will count only 50 per cent. as much as the vote of a man living in the eastern provinces; because the western man wants reciprocity. Having refused to be persuaded, the western people are to be punished. As they would vote in favor of reciprocity, they are to be allowed to vote for only half as many members as they should be allowed to elect. They are gagged that the trade freedom they want may be defeated.

Winnipeg, Aug. 6.—The Maroon team has decided to continue with the Western Canada Baseball League for a few weeks at least and will play. Regarding the charges that Calgary, Moose Jaw and Edmonton are beyond the salary limit, President Eckstorm claims that according to the contracts filed with him all these teams are within the limit. The Winnipeg Club are still unconvinced and affirm their intention of investigating the matter still further.

Brandon, Aug. 6.—The directors of the Brandon Baseball Club at a meeting held today at noon decided to stay with the Western Canadian League and play out the season. The pastime has been a losing proposition as it has been in all the minor leagues as a result of the very unfavorable weather this season. Brandon wants baseball, however, and the directors of the club have the assurance of prominent citizens that the financial aid necessary to keep Brandon on the baseball map will be forthcoming.

The Council have received a letter and plans from the Railway Commission of Canada to the effect that the town may have the crossing over the C.N.R. tracks on Main street. The commission's estimate of the cost of laying and moving tracks, cross switches, grading, ballast, etc., is $2,825, but whether or not the town will be required to pay this amount is not known. This crossing has been a vexed one here for nearly five years and it will be a relief to all the citizens when it is finally cleared up.

The Oils district paid a visit to Vegueville on Wednesday last. They were looked after by the Board of Trade, who dined them at the two hotels, the Alberta and the Queen's, after which the were taken for a short drive into the country to see the crops and H. W. Roberts' pure bred stock farm. Owing to the fact that their train arrived one hour and forty minutes later and departed one hour earlier than was originally intended, the time of their disposal here was insufficient to allow them time to see much of the adjacent country or for any speaking machine in the Town Hall, which had been decorated for the occasion.

WAINWRIGHT.

Wainwright News Service.
Last night the Wainwright Athletics witnessed one of the finest games in football of the season. The game was between the town team and the Grand Trunk Pacific men, the winners taking the Wainwright shield and medals. In the first half the G.T.P. men scored two goals, but in the second half the local team rushed the ball three or four times down the field and at last succeeded in scoring a goal. Time was soon after that, leaving the G.T.P. men the winners with a score of 2-1.

The Wainwright Amateur Athletic for the creation of the new grounds of the Hasting Athletic for twenty years. Grand stands will be erected and the track greatly improved. BOWEN.
Bowen News Service.

One of the largest real estate deals ever effected in Bowden closed last night when the east half of sections 22 and 15, the property of Mr. G. Adams, of Red Lodge, was sold to Mr. Richardson, New Westminster, B.C. The sale of R. Campbell's land was transacted through the agency of P. McMorris. The number of property deals in Bowden recently make it look as if the town were beginning a new era of prosperity.

A beautiful new baptistal here has just been purchased by the St. Michael's Church, and was used for the first time last Sunday on the occasion of the baptism of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robson. The baptism was performed by a special service and the church was prettily decorated with white flowers. Mr. Smith sang a fine solo.

Junior branch of the Ladies' Aid of St. Matthew's Church has been organized under the presidency of Mrs. G. Adams, of Red Lodge.

Haymaking is progressing slowly here at the frequency of heavy showers which make it difficult for the farmers to get the hay cut.

The train crew never looked as well as they do this year. Almost every day our farmers are bringing into town wonderful specimens of wheat, barley and oats. Without a doubt this year will be the best one ever harvested in Bowden district.
